SUZUKI MUSIC - AN INTRODUCTION FOR FAMILIES

Thinking about Suzuki lessons for your child?

Heard about the Suzuki Method but not sure what it is all about?

As a part of our Suzuki Music Autumn Festival we are inviting interested families to attend an introduction and observation program led by a leading Suzuki teacher. Suzuki Method is acclaimed worldwide for its ability to develop a child's love and sensitivity to music. It is based on the belief that all children can develop musical ability from the age of three or four, just as children learn to speak their native language at this time.

This program is primarily aimed at families with children who have not yet started Suzuki lessons. You will attend a talk outlining the Suzuki philosophy and how that influences teaching and learning in the Suzuki Method. After a short morning tea break, you will be able to observe some of Australia's top teachers working with groups of students - over 400 students will be on campus. To finish the day, you are welcome to observe the various instrument play-outs.

Please note that this is an observation program and children are not able to participate in classes.
